

HUNT COUNTY COURTHOUSE

HUNT COUNTY, TEXAS

October 24, 2006

The SecureScan Concealed Weapons Detection System by View Systems is a well-designed, accurate piece of equipment that has significantly improved the security screening process at our Courthouse.

The unit is fast and we've found no delays or backups when passing visitors through. The people who come into the courthouse have commented to us on how pleased they are that this system is unlike any they've passed through before. It's quick, easy, and they don't need to go through the harrowing process of taking off shoes, belts, pocket change, et cetera. Since it ignores common items like coins and jewelry, it reduces false alarms.

The graphs that appear on the screen greatly reduce the guessing that officers might have to do with other systems to determine the location of the threat objects. It narrows the field by showing us exactly where to look for potential hazards.

We tested the unit with several objects and found that it even picks up single-edge razor blades concealed in the mouth and hidden under the arm; needless to say, it recognizes small knives with no problem.

We also found that people with medical implants were put at ease by SecureScan; many have told us about the problems they've experienced when trying to pass through standard detectors. They're pleased that they can walk right through SecureScan without embarrassing or uncomfortable setbacks.

Overall, we are exceedingly pleased with SecureScan and are happy to recommend it to all fellow courthouses and any other facilities looking to improve their security measures.
